sleep.

Frankie Olendorf went to bed early Tuesday night. He had been to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the night before, and had been out later than usual. So he didn't get as much sleep as a little fellow of nine years ought to have.

Frankie had eaten supper with the other members of his family-his father, his two brothers, and his grandmother. For supper they had canned sausage.

After supper was over Frankie started to get his geography. He was in the fifth grade of school, and one of the brightest little fellows in the But Frankie was sleepy. His little head began to nod, and he could hardly keep his eyes open. His grandmother and father advised him to put his work away, and get his lesson in

RIO GRANDE TO GET ATHLETIC GROUNDS

Gallia Countian Would Donate Land for This Purpose.

Indications are that Rio Grande College will soon have a fine athletic field, with equipment costing in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Harry A. Wood, prominent Gallia county farmer and a strong booster for the college, has promised to donate a tract of land, for the purpose. Whether the proposed field will take two acres or five makes no difference to Mr. Wood, it is said. A committee has been appointed by the Rio Grande Booster Club to meet with Mr. Wood during the coming week to make arrangements for the location and proper equipment of the field. This committee will report at the next meeting of the club which will be held next Thursday night, it is reported. A drive for $10,000 is talked of by the club for the equipment of the field after the land had been granted.

"Maybe I won't be here in the morning," he said.

Just before he went to bed, Frankie showed his family how the colored boys had danced at the show the night before. He was in the best of humor.

As he went upstairs Frankie complained of a slight headache.

About midnight the grandmother thinking of the headache, called upstairs to ask how the little fellow was. Frankie was sleeping with his father. At the grandmother's inquiry the lad gave a peculiar cough which startled the father. He quickly carried Frankie downstairs. Some-thing about his condition indicated that the lad was seriously ill.

Two doctors were called. They did everything in their power to save the little fellow who seemed to be choking for breath, coupishly.

It was all in vain. At 2 a. m., Frankie died. As he passed away he waved a childish hand to his loved

In only a few hours the baby of the family had been snatched away.

Frankie is survived by his father. William Olendorf, two brothers, David William, aged 13, and Donald Raymond, 11, one grandfather, David Brown, and two grandmothers, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Elizabeth Olendorf. Frankie's mother died six years ago.

The funeral was held at the Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon, with Rev. J. Chester White officiating.

Doctors believe that the boy's death was due to poisoning which came from the sausage he had eaten for supper. Other members of the family felt rather ill, but quick action on the part of the doctors who were attending Frankie relieved them.

SAY YOUTH KILLED ON C. & O. RAILROAD IS NOT RADER BOY

Detroit People Who Saw Him Last Deny Identity.

MANY SEE BOY

Hundreds of People from All Parts of State Visit Beaver.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Rader of Wellston have given up all belief that the young man killed recently on the C. & O. near Givens Station is their son

The Raders received a telegram a few days ago from J. C. Gilliland of Detroit, with whom Harry Rader had been living, stating that Harry had disappeared and that the description of the young man killed on the C. & O. in many ways fitted that of the Rader boy.

Dr. Rader, wife and son Paul went to Beaver to view the body at the undertaking parlors of Leist & Davis. The doctor and his son were of the opinion that the body was not that of Harry, but the mother felt that it was.

Mr. Gilliland and wife were called from Detroit, in the belief that since they had been the last ones to see Harry Rader, they would know whether or not he was the young man killed.

When the Gillilands saw the body they declared that it was not that of Harry Rader. The boy was not dressed as he he was when last seen, and a large vaccination mark which Harry Rader had on his arm was entirely missing.

Dr. Rader has gone to Detroit in an effort to locate his son. The young man left Wellston some months ago, and has been employed in a Detroit hardware store. He made his home with the Gillilands, who are former Jackson County people.
