Benjamin is buried on his farm, 1/2 mile N.W. of Clay on county road 50.

Benjamin was the Captain of the "Light Horse" Cavalry Company in the County Militia Regiment.

Benjamin had a Tavern at Clay Crossroads, Jackson county.

Crossroads is tentatively identified as being about 2 1/2 miles north of Oak Hill on Hwy 93. The Indiana & Ohio Eastern Rail Road and Mullins Road and Pyro Road cross Hwy 93 in the area where Madison, Jefferson and Franklin twsp intersect.

While Clay is not shown on modern maps the use of Clay Crossroads and Crossroads seems to be interchangeable in history.

SOLDIER'S FAREWELL.

Upon the hill he turned, to take a last fond look,
At the valley, and the village church, and the cottage by the brook.

Beside that cottage porch, a girl was on her knees;
She held aloft a snowy scarf, which fluttered in the breeze;
She breathed a prayer for him—a prayer he could not hear;
But he paused to bless her as she knelt, and wiped away a tear.

Pioneer John Davis Callaghan

John Davis Callaghan and Margaret Hutchison were married in 1792 in Bath county, VA, and moved to Ohio in 1811. They first settled in Ross county, but finding the area too wet, they moved in 1812 to Jackson county and located on land southeast of Jackson, near Madison Furnace. It is said they were heading for the Dayton area but met families fleeing that area due to Cholera so they stopped in Ross county. The current Madison Furnace-Callaghan graveyard, in the Cooper Hollow Wildlife Area, is located on the edge of the old homestead, part of the graveyard being donated by the McLaughlin family. John and Margaret had eight children. In order of birth they were: Jeremiah Riley Callahan, John Davis Callahan, Jr, William Oliver Hutchison Callaghan, Mary Ann Callaghan, Sarah Bird Callaghan, Benjamin Franklin Callaghan, Owen George Callahan and Jane Callaghan. Many descendants still live in Jackson county.

Family records indicate that Jeremiah fought in the War of 1812 and was given a Parole of Honor by General McArthur, after he surrendered his Army in Canada, although no record can be found on the official rolls. Jeremiah left home and traveled to Kentucky, near Lexington, where he married Harriet Leach in the mid/late 1820's. They moved to Indiana in 1832 and southern Iowa in 1854 where they are buried. John, Jr first married Elizabeth James. After her death he married Susanna Cury and remained in Jackson county. He died in 1852 during a trip to Indiana. William O.H. married Martha Hanna and they are buried in Jackson county. Mary Ann married John S Ridgway. They went west and settled in Bates county, MO, where they are buried. Sarah Bird married Gabriel Keaton. They went west and died and are buried on the "Grand Prairies" in IL. Benjamin married Nancy A McClure and remained in Jackson county where they are buried. Owen married Martha Poor. They went west and settled in Bates county, MO, where they are buried. Jane married John F Foughty. No record has been found of them in Jackson county so they must have also went west? No record of their branch has been located to date.

Family history indicates that Jeremiah and Harriet, with their 12 children, traveled by covered wagon from Indiana, in 1854, to Colorado. Not liking Colorado, they returned to southern Iowa, Lucas county, the same year and settled about 4 miles west of Chariton, the county seat. The picture is of Harriet (Leach) Callahan, Jeremiah's wife, (my great grandmother) taken in Lucas county prior to her death. Lucas county is a farming county and during the late 1800's/early 1900's some shallow soft coal was mined.

Jeremiah and Harriet's youngest son was Asa Nay Callahan. He married Margaret J Vincent and they had 7 children. Their youngest son was John Asa Callahan. He married Ellen Agnes Johnson and they had two children. I am their son, John Ash Callahan. I married Mary Kathryn Combs and we have four daughters.

I would invite anyone with data on any branch of the Callaghan family to contact me at 430 E Gaywood, Houston, TX 77079
