Phillip Gordon Greatly Enjoyed

Fine Recital Given Supported by Mr. Knost.

That Jackson people appreciate and enjoy good music was demonstrated last Wednesday evening by the way in which the large audience at the Methodist church received Phillip Gordon, one of America's distinguished pianists. The audience appreciated every minute of the wonderful performance and greeted each number with a hearty applause to which Mr. Gordon responded several times with encores. His interpretation of some of the master compositions was flawless, he held his audience in rapt silence.

Mr. Clyde Knost, the baritone soloist who supported Mr. Gordon was also fine and his part of the evening's program was thoroughly enjoyed. The people of Jackson appreciate the effort of the male chorus in bringing this fine entertainment to Jackson.

LOUIS A. WATSON ANTIQUÉ DEALER

Former Jackson Man Notes For Repairing of Old Furniture.

A genuine Rosewood hand-carved chair, once the property of Jeff Davis, President of the ill-fated confederate States is being overhauled in the Louis A. Watson Workshop on South Fourth Street. The chair is the property of Mrs. G. E. McGlasson of 50 Bond Street, Charleston, West Va.

This antique in company with several other pieces of furniture date back to the early days of America was shipped here to be refinished and upholstered. Mrs. McGlasson whose family has retained possession of the Davis chair since the days of the Civil War refused to allow any other workman in the middle states to take over the important task of refinishing her treasure and insisted upon Mr. Watson doing the work. The chair is hand-carved from the top of the back to the edges. The wood is beautifully colored. It is understood that the chair was a family heirloom in the Davis family, even at the time of the Civil War.

Since that time it was refinished once. Mrs. McGlasson now has another truck load of antique enroute here from Charleston to be refinished, every piece of which has an interesting bit of history.

Dear Editor:

I received a letter a few days ago from my old friend and neighbor, Louis A. Watson, who resides in Martins Ferry, O. In the envelope was the above clipping that explains itself.

I was called to Moundsville, W. Va. to attend the G. A. R. State Encampment. While there I was called to the telephone. A voice said "Do you know me?" I said, "Perhaps, if I could see the man at the other end of the line." He then told me that he was Louis Watson of Martins Ferry and that he wanted me to visit him before I returned home. I arranged to go at the close of the encampment. Louis' son came for me and took me over to their home. I had a splendid visit with Lew and his family. His daughter is teaching in the schools there and his sons know how to saw a board straight.

He took me to his work shop. Every corner was filled with all kind of broken furniture most of it out of date. There was everything from an old style piano to a three legged chair. He also had every kind of tool that was necessary for repair work.

We then took an auto drive over in the Virginia Hills looking for old furniture for his shop. He left us in the machine while he went into a house by the roadside. He soon returned carrying a wall sweeper clock. We passed through the streets of St. Clairsville, the county seat of Belmont county. He has purchased a lot and warehouse on Lincoln Pike where he sells this antique furniture after it is repaired in the workshop I have told you about.

He told me that the first thing they sold was two old tin lanterns. He has a soldier son with him in his business that was over seas.

I am glad to know of so many of Jackson county's products that are making good in other parts of the country, such as Frank Crumit, Jeanette Chesnut, Alfred Evans, the Finney boys and a number others you can remember.

The first piece of workmanship that showed Watson's mechanical skill was the model he made here in Jackson about 1888. A model of a wire nail cutting machine that was as neat as a gold watch.

Hurrah! For our Buckeye State that has sent out men and women who have helped to make the world better. There is an old saying that the world is either better or worse for our living in it. God help us to make it easier for others to live and to live right.

J. W. HANK.

OBITUARY

MRS. CECIL TRIPP

Gladys, eldest daughter of Clinton G. and Belle McGatha Cheeseman was born in Jackson, O. on Apr. 15th, 1908 and received her education from the local school. From her earliest infancy she was a member of the Christian Sunday School, and was taught the way to lead a Christian life by its teachings, and also those of a good and kind Christian mother, whose death left the little girls without her kind care and guidance at a time when most needed and her early demise was keenly felt, especially so by Gladys. At a very tender age she was united in marriage to Cecil Tripp, and to this union was born one son.

She departed this life on Mch. 26, 1924, not yet sixteen years of age. Left to mourn their loss are husband and little son, father, one brother, Earl Cheeseman, and one sister Dorothy Cheeseman, all residing in Jackson.

Besides the immediate family there are numerous other relatives and friends who knew Gladys to be a dutiful daughter and a kind and loving mother. To God we commend her spirit, and the message we would leave to friends and loved ones is aptly expressed by Tennysons:

Sunset and evening star,

And one clear call for me;

And may there be no moaning of the bar,

When I put out to sea.

Twilight and evening bell,

And after that the dark;

And may there be no sadness of farewell

When I embark.

For though from out our bourne of time and place,

The flood may bear me far;

I hope to see my Pilot face to face,

When I have crossed the bar.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our wife and daughter, Gladys Tripp, also Rev. Grisso for his comforting words.

Charles Duffie Patten, eldest son of John and Mary Masters Patten was born December 29, 1866 in Franklin township, Jackson county and departed this life March 29, 1924 at Indianapolis, Ind., aged 57 years, 3 months.

A part of his early life was spent in Jackson associated with what is now the D. T. & I. Railroad. Later he was removed to Springfield, Ohio in the employ of the Big Four Road. For the past 25 years his home has been in Indianapolis, Ind. where he was employed as Railroad and stationary engineer.

In January this year he returned to his mother's home for a visit with his loved ones and while here expressed a desire to again go back to the old home grounds where he was wont to roam in his childhood days. Little did we realize when we gave him a parting goodbye that death would claim him so soon.

He entered the Indianapolis Hospital March 7th, and after a brave struggle for three weeks death conquered. He leaves an aged mother, two brothers, George and Walter Patten of this city and a host of friends.

OBITUARY

DAVID M. LEWIS

David M. Lewis, son of David M. and Ellen Jones Lewis was born at Jefferson Furnace, this county August 13th, 1871, passed away at his home in this city March 21st, 1924, being at the time of his death 52 years, 7 months and 8 days.

He resided at the place of his birth until about the age of eleven years, when with his parents he moved to this city, where he made his home until called by death.

Being a member of a large family of children he had the means of education usually furnished by the country school, which in that day was somewhat limited. He early in life learned the lessons of honest toil and industry, these lessons served him well through his life.

December 1st 1898 he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth J. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Davis of Jackson, O.

To this marriage was born five children, viz.: Gertrude (Mrs. Arthur Butts), and Grace (Mrs. Loren Mercer), both of Jackson, John Edwin of New Boston, O. David Ellsworth and Daniel Owen, at home.

These with the wife, one brother, Rosster, and three sisters, Mrs. Austin Masters of Jackson, Mrs. John Powers of Winchester and Mrs. Stanley Cherrington of Columbus, O. and three grandchildren, with a host of friends are today mourning his departure.

In young manhood he began employment in the Globe Iron Company's mine near this city, and continued in their employ until his death, a period of over a quarter of a century, a record to be proud of, to be a soldier in that grand army of men, the pure American laborer, who contributes so much to the industrial development of our great commonwealth and who help so much to make it what it is.

So sudden and unexpected was his passing that his death came as a great shock to his family and friends.

Leaving home in apparent good health and in the prime of physical strength and middle life, and in the best of spirits on last Friday morning, mingling with his fellow workers on the way into the mine with the usual good fellowship that characterizes the men who toil in the dark places of the earth, none suspected how soon he would be called from his accustomed places.

Shortly after noon he was suddenly, and with little warning stricken with severe illness. The kind and helping hands of his fellow workers, who know what it is to daily face the chance of death in their hazardous employment, and who freely share their powder, tools and light with each other, his real "buddies", kindly assisted him from his place of employment, medical aid was hurried to his relief, but all in vain, shortly after being removed to his home he passed away.

The respect in which he was held by his fellow laborers is shown today by their presence, and by their many manifestations of sympathy.

He was a member in good standing of Jackson Court No. 99, Foresters of America, and of the United Mine Workers of America.

David Lewis was a man who kept well informed on the current events of the day, his convictions on any subject were the results of the knowledge of the subject and his reasoning, his force of character was inherited from parents who were schooled in the hard school of early days in this county. He was fair and honorable and always stood for the right as he saw it.

His place of employment is not easy to fill for he was one of those who believed in an honest days work, that was a part of his schooling.

In the home and among his companions his place will never be filled for these knew him at his full worth.

The mysteries of life and death are unexplainable, we cannot ask why. Only bow our heads in submission to the Divine will and trust him, knowing and believing that our Heavenly Father doeth all things well.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the death of our husband and father, David M. Lewis. Also to Rev. Matthews for his comforting words and to undertaker John Thomas and to all of those who sent floral offerings.
