

W. D. SMITH FINDS INDIAN BURIAL PLACE IN CAVE LOCATED NEAR LLOYD BRIDGE

Is the cave near the Lloyd Bridge on the Chillicothe pike where a skeleton was recently discovered, an old Indian cache or an Indian tomb?

W. D. Smith, who owns the land on which the cave is located and who discovered the skeleton, thinks there may be some valuable Indian relics in and near the cave. He expects to excavate in the vicinity of the spot where the skeleton was found.

May 29 Smith was getting gravel from the cave with which to build a cellar. About six inches below the ground, the skeleton was found, in silicon gravel. The body had been buried on its side, facing west, with the legs bent back of the body.

One authority who viewed the skeleton expressed the belief that the body was that of an old Indian woman. The woman must have been a tall person, for the thigh bone measured 22 inches, according to Smith. The skeleton was brought to Jackson by Sheriff W. E. McCoy.

A few days ago Smith found a half pint of mussel shells, two bones, and a piece of iron in the same cave, some four feet underground. This discovery was made about ten feet from the place where the skeleton was unearthed.

Smith purchased this property from Carp Stevenson about five years ago. The property was the old home place of P. B. Darling, J. H. Darling, and Einon Darling. The cave is located about 150 yards from the Chillicothe Pike, and scores of people have visited it since the discovery of the old Indian skeleton.

Standard-Journal, June 25, 1924

IN MEMORY

MRS. SARAH EDWARDS

Mrs. Sarah Edwards, the subject of this brief sketch, was born in Cardiganshire, South Wales, December 25, 1838, and on June 5, 1924 she heard God's welcome call and went over to the reunion country, passing away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Bellamy of Columbus, Ohio, at the ripe age of eighty five years, five months and ten days.

She was the daughter of Rev. W. B. and Mary Williams, well known people of the Thurman Ohio community, some three score years ago, Mr. Williams being for many years pastor of Ebenezer church.

Mrs. Edwards grew to womanhood near this church, and in the year 1858 was happily joined in marriage with Edward D. Edwards and together for forty years they shared life's joys and sorrows, until December 5, 1898, when the husband and father was called away by death.

This life union was blessed with eight children, six of whom survive namely: Charles and David of Ironton, Ohio, Elmer, Hannah and John of Columbus, Ohio and Edward of Newark, Ohio, Elizabeth and George having crossed on before.

At the early age of fifteen years she cast in her lot with the people of God and became a member of his visible church which relationship she faithfully sustained to the end of her long and eventful life, being at the time of her death a member of the Hill Crest Baptist Church, Columbus Ohio.

A halting pen cannot do justice to the life and character of Mrs. Edwards, she ruled queen of the home, her industry was un failing, rapid in her work, quick to plan, prompt to help, eager to serve; she loved her family with an unselfish affection and was devoted to all the interests of her church. There was a charm about her life that easily drew to her a large circle of friends wherever her lot was cast.

She needs no formal eulogy, her deeds of love, charity and goodness speak for her, and
